Chronicler? They must have got the wrong person!? I still remember when I struggled with Swedish at school, trying to find where to put a full stop. The teacher and I never got along. I tried reading aloud to myself, when the air ran out it became a dot on the paper. The red marks at the edge of all essays showed I was wrong. I got mad, piled the books up in the basement, then borrowed a 22 long rifle and tested how far the bullet could penetrate the books! Had difficulty explaining to the teacher what happened.

Over the years I have come to understand that we have different abilities. What I'm good at outweighs other things. As a group, amazing progress can be made. If everyone was super at grammar, the world wouldn't make the progress we've made so far. At 18, a friend and I went out to Europe to see what was beyond our city limits in Vänersborg. Cell phones were not yet invented, money came as traveller's cheques, poor language skills, what an adventure.

At the age of 8, I roamed the woods outside Vänersborg, next to my grandfather. There he taught me how to shoot air rifles. I enjoyed walking in the forest, felt safe and said to myself: I want to live in the forest, like my grandfather. Now 52 years later, my dream seems to have come true, without really understanding how my life choices and crooked paths have led me here. To this fantastic village, Gunnarsbyn - like your own Alaska.

Local life is talked about in Boden. In Gunnarsbyn, the concept of community life is even clearer. Shop, gas station, cinema, coffee shops, book bus all within 15 minutes walking distance. Ski track, snowmobile track within 50 meters. Fantastic fishing waters for me as a sörlänning. The village has exceeded my expectations!

Not everything is the best. In December I was bored, no daylight, dark all around the clock. Outside our house on the forland here in the village, it became pitch black around the corner. Sigh, 1-2 more months before the sun show itself and stays up a little longer. I had simply forgotten the darkness of winter. In February 2022, I came home after a job at the Wasa polar station in Antarctica. There the sun flowed around the clock. Midnight sun in the middle of the continent's summer period. Or summer and summer, an average temperature of -25°C.

The house we bought here was built in 1880 and has been a summer cottage for the past 27 years. Cold floors, cold walls, bad heat, but oh what a feeling! The kitchen is just like at home at grandpa and grandma's house, high comfort and safety. There is a soul in the house. It will be a fun challenge to settle in further in the house, which now really feels like home. Chickens, some pigs and sheep are a growing idea. Also looking for hunting moose if there is a space for me in any huntingteam.

Thanks to the villagers for your welcome! No one mentioned no one forgotten.

The Chairman has the floor

New year, 2023, and the board continues to work towards the goals set out in the business plan adopted by the 2022 Annual Meeting.

Råek had a member meeting on November 10 and there we went through the development work that the board had done, which landed in the new business plan, we talked about solar energy, solar park and about carpooling. Right on time, December's electricity prices beat all previous prices even in the north. A working group was formed among the members to investigate and learn more about solar energy and shared solar farms. Interesting to follow that job.

All the best

ÄLVSKOLAN

Grades 1-3 have been working for a few weeks with the writing project Writing theme on schedule. The students wrote with empathy and there were many nice stories that they later read out to each other in class.

Grades 1-3 and the preschool class have for two days jointly paid attention to and celebrated that we have been 100 days in school since we started this school year, and that we are 100 days smarter and that we have learned so much. The two days were filled with creative activities for all the senses and with tasks of various kinds to solve and perform. The second day of celebrating 100th day was combined with pajama party and stuffed animal day.

The middle school has collaborated with Anna Karlsson from the Church of Sweden and the students have participated in the Knight's School. The Knight's School works with the values.

The middle school has had a film and song project where grades 4-5 got to write and perform a song, in a group. The students in 6th grade made a film, which they filmed and edited and then showed off.

GUNNARSBYNS FÖRSKOLA

The children at Gunnarsby preschool also discover and learn about shapes, geometry, patterns, location, etc. (math) Here with inspiration from our new light table in our indoor environment.

KVARNÅ FÖRSKOLA

We have created a green room at our preschool! Here we work with green screen, where we use our learning tablets to photograph and film. In apps, we can then put in different backgrounds and create brand new photos and movies together with the children. In this way, we give the children the opportunity to marvel, to develop their imagination, to talk and collaborate, and to train their critical abilities and work with source criticism.

THE DISTRICT HAS RECEIVED AN ITINERANT VETERINARIAN

The family has taken a big step and moved to one of the inventoried deserted houses in Sörbyn. Shane is from England and Kathy is from Belgium. Their daughter Elisa was born when they lived in Scotland. Shane fell for the house and the place in Sörbyn and Kathy who loves animals and nature, was not late to latch onto the idea.

Shane works as a truck driver and Kathy runs an itinerant veterinary clinic based in Sörbyn. She has previously worked in both Scotland and Boden and is used to working with large animals on farms. This fills a gap, as the larger veterinary companies do not have the opportunity to get out on site to the same extent.

The family is so grateful, both to the fantastic preschool in Gunnarsbyn that has received Elisa in such a warm and familiar way and to the people in the district who are so welcoming and open.

The family business with many talents – with the goal of growing

Jimmy Henriksson and Fanny Collas live together with their three children in Överstbyn. In August 2022, the couple's third child Gabriel was born. Fanny has chosen to continue to welcome French guests and thus Gabriel has been able to join in on adventures.

Jimmy has previously worked in the Armed Forces and in emergency medical care. Fanny comes from France and moved to Sweden in 2017. She holds a Master degree in International Business Management and has been working in tourism since 2018.

The company was started in June 2021 by Jimmy, when the demand for healthcare professionals in the private sector increased due to the pandemic. Fanny has been working with her own business since 2019 selling her tourist concept Guesthouse – live like a local and had a positive development of customer inquiries. In 2022, they saw an increased tendency of staffing needs in several different industries and at the same time a sharp increase in travel requests to Norrbotten. Therefore, they chose to merge their operations under the flag of JiMHem AB. Since January 1, 2023, it is a family business that looks set to grow stronger. Passion Laponie is nowadays the marketing name for the tourist part of the company.

Fanny currently runs a travel agency on the French market and thus also sells other destinations around Norrbotten.

- But we still have French guests who come to us to share the simplicity of our life and everyday life. An experience that for our customers has been very much appreciated, says Fanny.

Today, Jimmy rents himself out as a truck driver and in occupational health care. During the summer season, Jimmy performs advanced tree felling at both private customers and companies. Since last year, he has also expanded the business with green space care.

- We are running a side project where we are currently training our 15 sled dogs of the Siberian Huskys breed, which will be part of our Guesthouse concept next season, says Fanny.

At present, the two are full-time employees and currently also have a seasonally employed Tour Leader who also acts as an English / French interpreter. This summer, they will have at least one seasonal green space worker for lawn mowing and clearing, for example.

They currently collaborate with various companies around Norrbotten in various industries. Their goal is to continue to grow sustainably and long-term. Develop customer relationships in order to be able to expand and hire staff in the future and thus be able to contribute with increased employment in Råne älvdal and Norrbotten.

Handicrafts are popular (again) – the sewing circle in Forsnäs rise again

Craftsmanship was perhaps excluded during a time when wear-and-tear dominated, but not least during the pandemic, many have found their way back or started by creating with their hands. Craftsmanship with solid materials is durable, a pair of knitted and felted woolen gloves can be used for a long time and repaired if necessary.

– Yes, everything will come back, laughs Rose-Marie Krekula, who is wearing a pair of mittens. They're in hönsestrikk, a form of free knitting in different colors and patterns, it was popular in the 70s, now it's coming again.

Hannah Kinnunen-Levy spins up sleep in a fur coat to explore how she can reuse it. Here together with Sanne Kouwenhoven and Rose-Marie Krekula

The meetings began in May 2022, it was Emilie Guegan and Anette Lundström who asked some people in the village if they were interested in meeting. And the interest turned out to be there, during the first meeting there were about 15 people, with six different nationalities.

– I've always been interested in crafts, says Hannah Kinnunen-Levy.

She runs with her husband a company that offers tours with sled dogs. Anette Lundström, Emilie Guegan and Sanne Kouwenhoven also have sled dogs. They have all gathered in the Råne river valley, partly because some knew each other from previous assignments in the industry, plus they managed to buy properties with sufficient land for their businesses here.

– We like it here, we don't think it's fun to live in town, no, we don't want to be anywhere else, laughs as she unravels her seam in a fur coat to explore how she can reuse it.

The craft meetings in the community center in Forsnäs have meanwhile grown and more women interested in crafts have joined. Ulf Helle is the only man among the women. In fact, it was at his 50th birthday party that the craft reunion started. He had invited the whole village to the party, some came, and the women started talking about getting together to create.

– We all like to do crafts, so why not do it together? I think the community center here is a fantastic place, says Frenchwoman Emilie Guegan.

CONTINUATION PROJECT BY DIGIBY

This is a continuation project of the DigiBy project and will continue to work with different actors as previously with new pilots.

In DigiBy, we have participated and tested pilots in various locations in Norrbotten. In Luleå/Boden, we have tested meeting place screens in Niemisel, Gunnarsbyn, Unbyn/Avan and more. It is about getting information out about what is happening in the village/district but also information from the municipalities.

In DigiBy, a digital lock has also been tested in the baker's hut in Brändön, where the idea was to connect the lock with a booking page. The SMALL project will continue to find new solutions to achieve development and collaboration with both Luleå and Boden municipality.

We will share the experiences we have gained from DigiBy, which we hope will stimulate various actors to seek their own projects that we can join hands with.

The project's goal, to create smart, attractive, viable and sustainable rural areas using existing digital technology.

The project's ambitions are actor collaboration to develop innovative solutions and stimulate working methods where more people work with new methods such as open innovation processes. Based on the needs of the actors involved, more collaboration pilots will be identified. In the project, we want, with the help of co-creation processes, to identify and develop different forms of cooperation and models to change and strengthen the locality involved and its companies.

Project owner: Luleå University of Technology, financed by ERDF, Region Norrbotten, Norrlands navet

Participants: Municipalities and settlements in Norrbotten and Västerbotten.

Target groups: Business promotion actors Academy and research actors, Idea-driven organizations, Individuals in the region, Public organizations, Small and medium-sized enterprises, Social enterprises.

RENT OUT YOUR PROPERTY

Northern Sweden is facing a societal transition that has no equivalent in modern times. 3000 new residents in three years, we'll fix it, but we need your help. By renting out a home, you as a resident can participate and contribute to the green transformation of society.

IMPROVE THE ENERGY EFFICIENCY OF YOUR HOME OR BUSINESS

Soaring electricity prices mean that more people than usual are looking at possible ways to save energy. The municipalities have Energy and Climate Advisors who are a type of consumer advisor for energy issues, answer your questions completely free of charge. The advice is for everyone, both the general public, companies and organizations. They can help you save energy, reduce your greenhouse gas emissions, or switch to renewable energy.

INTERESTED IN SOLAR CELLS?

Both municipalities, Boden and Luleå have a Solar map that shows which roofs or which parts of roofs are suitable for solar cells. The ceiling surface is divided into three colors. The colors represent different categories that show how large the solar radiation is on different parts of the roof.

GROWING TOGETHER II – ENTERS A NEW PHASE

After, in the preliminary study (2021) having inventoried uninhabited properties in a total of 60 villages in Råneå älvdal Luleå and Boden municipalities, as well as Vitå älvdal in Luleå municipality, 550 house objects were noted in the varying condition in the inventory.

During the preliminary study and now in our continued work, we have received a lot of attention in the media, and this has caused ripples in the water. We see that more municipalities are doing similar work around Sweden for the same purpose, to inventory their "abandoned houses" in the hope of attracting new residents. This has been very helpful and networks with other municipalities have been created. In January, among other things, we made a study visit to Övertorneå municipality and had a very fruitful meeting there with the project manager for Hej Hemby!, also a cross-municipal collaboration project between Pajala and Övertorneå municipality that has been going on for a number of years and with plans to continue.

Our closest activity in the project is to contact the owners of the empty properties, we do this by sending a letter. The property owners are the key people in the matter and their position is largely decisive. We plan to invite you to information meetings and workshops before the summer, so keep an eye out for upcoming invitations!

Imagine if in our area we could revive the empty houses that exist and give new residents the chance to move to our fantastic, unique villages!

Grow together II is a cross-municipal project between Boden and Luleå municipalities as well as RÅEK (Råne älvdalsrådet i Gunnarsby parish economic association) and the citizens' office Råneå.

New season in the offing – means several news

TEXT Sven Norman, chairman Degerselsbygdens Samfällighetsförening

Now that things are starting to brighten more and more with each passing day, we in the board of degerselsbygdens samfällighetsförening begin to plan for this year's fishing season. New for this year is that fishing licenses in the future will be sold online via Laxportalen.se as Fiskekort.se will be closed down. This will apply to all types of fishing licenses, despite the domain name.

Our mission in managing fishing in the upper reaches of the Råne River does not only mean ensuring that fishing in the river takes place in a sustainable way. We will also work to ensure that money from fishing license sales returns to the river and those of us who live here in the form of, for example, increased accessibility and well-being. Therefore, in 2022, we have prepared a new boat drop-off site in Sundsnäs and improved the boat drop-off sites with several gravel loads in Valvträsk and Näset in Gunnarsbyträsket. We have also arranged for the road to Kosundsudden with new gravel. In 2023, we will drive out new fireplaces and benches to several places around the river.

In addition to working with accessibility around the river, we want to work actively with fish conservation. Therefore, it was decided at the last board meeting that we will invite you to a fish conservation day in the summer, where we together make an effort for the fish and fishing in the river and where we offer coffee and a light lunch. If it turns out well and there is interest, it is likely that the fish conservation day will be an annual event. This year, we will select a place where we prepare spawning grounds for trout using the so-called hartijoki method. In short, the method involves working with the material found in the watercourse and using special tools to move larger stones and blocks and sift out exactly the size of the gravel that the female trout needs. No prior knowledge is required and if you want, you can come along just to watch and socialize.

Follow us on our facebook page Råneälvens norra kortfiskeområde and keep an eye out there or on the website ranealven.se for an invitation to the fish conservation day and other information.

Finally, we have good news for the Abramsån, where the organization Rewilding Sweden has received approval from the Land and Environment Court to restore certain raft guided stretches. This will contribute to better living conditions for the trout, which are currently at very low levels in the Råne River's water system compared to its potential. Their work will start within the next few years and, according to the permit, must be completed no later than 2026.
